The History of Almbloo's Pharmacy.

The first drug store in Cooperstown was owned by Dr. Newell, a Civil War veteran. He was here for four years - from 1884 until 1888.

Mr. Almbloo bought the place from Dr. Newell on July 4, 1888. In 1895 Mr. S. Almbloo made an addition to the building; and another in 1900. When he found that it was still insufficient he had the whole building torn down, and a group of local people erected the present drug store in the year 1906. The blocks used in building were manufactured in the City of Danversford, and were hauled by horses and wagons to Cooperstown.

During the first years after it was built, both furniture and caskets were sold in addition to drug products. The Syverson store also sold furniture and caskets, so Almbloo sold their furniture to Syverson store and the Syerson store sold all the caskets to Almklov.

Since that time the Almklov Pharmacy has dealt exclusively with drugs.

The famous "Eczema Salve" has been made and sold in this drug store ever since it was built.

Doctors, who were here before Dr. L. Almklov, were Bergstrom, Curv, and shells, all of whom are now dead. Dr. L. Almklov works in connection with the Drug Store.
