

STUDENTS INFORMED REGARD ASSOCIATION

On Friday morning, October 9, at the regular assembly period, Superintendent Rogers addressed the student body concerning the Greater North Dakota Association.

In part he said, "The population of North Dakota is only one-fifth of what it could be. Our largest cities are merely towns. For this reason it is our duty to get people from other places interested in our state. People in other sections boost their states. There are so many people knocking North Dakota that foreigners believe all they hear and decide to stay out of our state.

"Most of these people are misinformed or have seen only the worst points of our beautiful and resourceful commonwealth. If we advertise the fact that our eastern soil is some of the best in the country, that the coal mines in the western portion are very rich, that some of the best pottery in the world is made from North Dakota clay and that the pasture lands are so rich that a great amount of meat is shipped from the state, we would certainly induce more people to come in.

"The purpose of the Greater North Dakota Association is to boost our state. Formerly there were two associations, the North Dakota Automobile Association and the Greater North Dakota Association. These organizations didn't function alone, so they have now combined and formed the greater one. This large association consists of all members who boost the state. Many persons who realize the personal value they will receive from a greater population will give large sums for the organization. Each county will have one man represent it on the Board of Directors. In our community N. M. Lunde holds this position."

Last week, October 12th to 17th, the campaign for financial subscribers was held. Griggs county alone has lost on an average of $2,400 for each family which has moved away. Instead of letting this money go out of the community it is the duty of every citizen to induce people to move into it. If we get people interested in the state they will come in and open up the natural resources and so enrich the state.

Mr. Rogers told us that even though he had talked of the value of the association to the state, he was not trying to persuade us to give financial aid to it. He was not even asking us to tell our parents to do so. The reason he explained the purpose of it to us was so that we might know what the association had planned, and more directly that we might become interested in our state.

Teachers Visit

During the Institute week a number of the teachers visited high school. The superintendent of the Sutton school visited every day for the purpose of observing our high school classes with the intention of applying any new principles he might learn, to his own high school.

Former Teacher Weds

Hallowe'en Social

The Athletic Board of Control has announced a costume party for Friday evening, October 30th, in the gymnasium.

Last year a similar social function was held under the same auspices with success both to the financial interests of the association and the pleasure of those attending.

Guests will be required to costume appropriately for the spirit of the season. Games and stunts will feature the entertainment. Refreshments will be in the order of lunch boxes sold at auction.

We predict a most delightful evening, and advise that it will be well for all students to keep the date in mind.

MANY RURAL SCHOOLS TAUGHT BY OLD GRADS

Pratt, Adah Skofstad and Myrtle McDermott were graduated in 1921. Constance Watne, Nina Houghton and Mabel Kastet were members of the class of 1922.

The teachers who were in the Seniorclass of 1923 are Silvanus Sanderson, Dorothy Seldal, Marian Pratt, Inez Hogue, Myrtle Detwiller, Ruth Johnson, Myrtle Watne, Lise Soma, Adelaide Lee and Christine Johnson.

Florence Moe, Helen Ayrea, Thelma Watne, Elna Johnson and Clara Kolberg graduated in 1924.

The last graduating class is represented by Selma Tang, Irene Westley, Thelma Eide, Thelma Wold, Jessie Watne, Helen Retzlaff and Solveig Kolberg.

We are proud of this record and believe that each person named will strive hard to give their respective communities good schools.

Griggs' Enrollment in N. D. E. A. is Hundred Per Cent

Teachers of the city schools as well as every teacher in Griggs county have shown their professional interest in education by becoming members of the North Dakota Educational Association. The N. D. E. A. is the state organization of teachers and aims at giving the children of the state the best educational facilities possible.

Cooperstown teachers were the first to enroll as a body. Then, the advantages of affiliation with the association were presented to the teachers assembled for institute at the gymnasium. When they were canvassed for membership, all but six signed their enrollment cards. Later in the day these were pledged and enrolled.

This is the first time in the history of Griggs county that every teacher has become a member of the state organization. We believe that the teachers have the interests of education at heart, and that no better group of teachers have ever been in charge of the county schools.

VALUABLE ADDITIONS TO SCHOOL LIBRARY

Some new books have been added to the high school library. Chief among them is a two-volume supplement to the New International Encyclopedia. The two volumes bring the edition on hand up to the present date with recent biography and other desired information not found in the regular set. Other books added during the past month are:

Davis—New Agriculture for High Schools.

Harrington—Writing for Print.

Harrington & Frankenburg—Essentials in Journalism.

Hyde—A Course in Journalistic Writing.

Luther—Trading and Exploring (Juvenile.)

Rexford and Carson—Constitution of Our Country.

Shaw—The Art of Debate.

Southworth—Common Sense of the Constitution.

Spillman—Farm Science.

Young—Government of North Dakota and Nation.

The school would welcome usable books in either classical fiction or reference material. Some one would be pleased to call for your donations, if you call the office.

Shove-and-Leave-It

(By Jacinth)

The model's nineteen-twenty; its lines are out of style; but anyway, it gets us there, with stops most every mile. It's a breezy 'bus on mornings cold; but even then we dare not scold; for it must bear the brunt of shame, which, goodness knows, it's not to blame. We need no horn to let them know, that it is time to travel slow; for right along it sings its song of trouble, trouble, trouble.

It's steering gears are badly worn; it's brakes, likewise, would make you mourn. To strangers driving they may seem quite absurd; for instead of a stop it hits straight for the curb. I dare not dare to start that car, for sure enough I won't go far. It chugs along a little way; but just how far I dare not say. For then, it's shove-and-leave-it.

Dictionaries

Standard dictionaries can be secured at the office at nominal cost. These dictionaries are required of every Freshman in college and should be used in high school.
