

Hans Goodnow and a companion, whose true name has not been learned, two of party of six who were fined from $10 to $20 each for an assault upon Manley Williams, have been taken to Omaha to answer the charge of deserting from the army. In the trial of the assault case it developed that Goodnow not only was the apparent leader of the gang which assaulted Williams, but was wanted by military authorities.