THE NEWS IN BRIEF. GOSSIPFROM WASHINGTON.

What to to do with the hostile Apaches brought in by Mr. Crook is now the troublesome proposition before the Indian bureau. It is probable that they will be guarded near where they are, for some days at least, until it is decided how to dispose of them. It is not unlikely as soon as the bucks are brought in they will all be taken clear away from the border, so it will be impossible for them to get back will be impossible for them to get back into Mexico. There is plenty of room for them in the Indian Territory, where the Comanches have been finally cornered, or they might be put with the Navajos in Northern New Mexico. There is some dif-ficulty at present in keeping them any-where contented, from the fact that four-fifths of those captured by Crook are wom-en and children and the bucks are still out.

The postmaster general has decided that, under the recent act of congress directing the readjustment of salaries of certain postmasters where it was not done under Sec. 8 of the act of June, 1866, no postmasters are to be included within the legislation unless they failed to receive a biennial readjust-ment of their claims upon the basis fixed upon by the act of June 14—i. e., actual quarterly returns for two years-where such readjustment would make their loss 10 per cent, compared with readjustment on the basis of their average quarterly returns for two years,

FOREIGN NEWS NOTES.

Dublin Special: The farmers are perpieze by the general labor exodus to America and the impossibility of securing at any price or any terms the better class of skilled farm laborers. The one anxiety of those who are left'seems to work long enough to secure sufficient money to pay steerage fare to the United States. So far has the embarrassment reached that the local boards have in many cases refused longer to make mon-ey grants for either clothes or passage mon-ey. Throughout the whole northern country capable workmen cannot be found on any terms which the framer can pay. The laborers are going at any opportunity. The laborers are going at any opportunity and on any terms which will secure passage money, and such as are left are only wait-ing to earn money enough to follow.

A correspondent of the Pilot cables the following from Rome: The pope recently following from Rome: The pope recently refused to receive Errington, who asked an autience. This may indicate a complete change in the pope's Irish policy. Erring-ton is in absolute disgrace with the vatican. The recent letter from the pope to the Irish bishops, it is said, was intended to be se-cret. Errington had a copy before the Irish bishops received theirs, and he communica-ted it to the English party in Rome, which has been very influential at the vatican. In dismay at the pope's emphatic refusal to give an audience to Errington, it is repor-ted that Errington will leave Rome for E igland. E igland.

Timothy Kelly was the fifth Irishman to suffer death on the gallows for participation in the taking off of Cavendish and Burke in phoniz park; the four victims preceding him being Brady, Curley, Fagin and Caffrey, in the order named. Kelly was tried three times, the jury having disagreed on both the first and second trials. The third began on Monday, May 7 last, and it ended in con-viction on the Wednesday following, the jury deliberating an hour. After the judge had pronounced the sentence of death. and Kelly was being removed from the court room, he delivered himself of the following innocent; thank you, my lord." innocent; He also their exertion in his behalf, and hoped they might live long to defend the innocent. FRUITFUL INDIAN CAMPAIGN.

Gen. Crook Relates in a Modest Way His Fight with and Capture of 400 Rostile Apaches-The Apaches Now Most Submissive in Disposition.

Silver Creek, Ariz., twelve miles north of th boundary, via Tombstone.—Left here May 1 with 193 Apache scouts under Crawford. Got word to Mackey with Chaffee's company of forty-two men, Sixth cavalry, and rations for two months or mules. Followed the hostile Chiracahuas. The country is of indescribable roughness. A number of mules lost their footing, stepping from the trail, fell down the preci-pices and were killed. The stronghold of the Chiracahuna is the very heart of the Sierra Madres. The position is widely watered, with a dense growth of timber, and plenty of grass. They had been camped near the head of the Bavispe, occupying prominent elevated peaks, affording a fine lookout for miles, rendering a sur-total absence of fuss and feathers in his make up, it may be stated that, although the fight and capture occurred the 17th of last month, and capture occurred the 17th of last month, be leisurely retreated lines steps to Camp Sup-oly, at Silver Creck, not sending a courier abead to signal lis movements. The first in-timation had of Crock's return was the arrival of a lieutenant at Col Biddle's headquarters at 8 a. m. In and straightway struck out for a washbasin which he had spied, and was soon engaged in performing his ablutions, after which he threw himself into a camp stool and engaged in conversation about his campaign in an off-hand way as if hunting the cruelest and fiercest foe on the continent in the wildest and most inaccessible country to be found was a matter of every-day occurrence. The villiage of Elkpert, Clayton county, Iowa, on Turkey river, containing 500 in-habitants, was struck by the the cyclone of Monday, demolishing half a dozen build-ings besides barns and outhouses. Mrs. Hartz, a widow, had her dwelling house partly demolished, and barn, built of heavy timber, completely destroyed. She escaped by crawling under the bed. A number of farmhouses south of the town were also demolished. The roar of the storm was heard over a minute before it struck. It was accompanied by heavy rain, but no thunder or lightning. The largest trees were torn by the roots, others entirely stripped of their foliage. HIS FATHER'S MURDERER.

Capt. Nutt's Murder and his Daughter's Shame Avenged in the Blood of the Wretched Dukes.

Uniontown, Pa. June 13 .- James Nutt, son of State Treasurer Capt. A. C. Nutt, de-ceased, shot and killed N. L. Dukes, his father's murderer, this evening at 7:30 o'clock. He shot four times, all the shots taking effect. Dukes died instantly. Dukes had been frequently informed of his danger in remaining in Uniontown, and he lately said he would either stay there or the cemetery. It is said that he had expressed fear of the son of Capt. Nutt, and was never on of the son of Capt. Nutt, and was never on the street after night. To-day James Nutt was seen practicing with a revolver at his home, and this evening about 7:30 o'clock he was standing near the postoffice, when Dukes came along. As Dukes was passing he turned his head and noticed young Nutt, just as he stepped from the doorway, and fired a shot, taking effect in Dukes' side. Dukes started to run, when Nutt followed and shot again. By this time Dukes was on and shot again. By this time Dukes was on the postoffice steps, when he received an-other shot and tell inside the door. Nutt followed and fired two more shot, into Dukes' prostrate body, one taking effect in the neck. Dukes was dead before any one could get to him. The revolver that did the work is the same that Capt. Nutt carried on the morning of his death. Young Nutt gave himself up and is now in jail. He was calm, but pale as a sheet. Five shots were fired, four taking effect. The coroners jury are now sitting. Excitement is running high.

THE PENALTY OF WARNING UNHEEDED.

Duke had been frequently warned to leave Uniontown, but he persistently re-fused. His friends had often advised him to seek another nome, and his answer was always that he would either live in Union-town or be a corpse in the cemetery. As far back as last December, young Nutt had threatened to have Dukes life, and the lat-ter had always avoided him. The last of the two shots fired after Dukes fell, pene-trated his back. The shooting created intrated his back. The shooting created in-tense excitement, but at 11 p. m. everything was quiet. Young Nutt is not quite twenty years of age and has always been considered quiet and inoffensive. It is said, however, that he has been practicing with a revolver for some time past.

On Dec. 23, 1882, N. L. Dukes, a lawyer, and member-elect of the Pennsylvania legislature from Fayette county, shot and killed Capt. A. C. Nutt, state cashier, in the Jennings house, Uniontown. The cause was the alleged seduction of Capt. Nutt's was the anged sentence of Capt. Nutte daughter Lizzie by Dukes, to whom the young lady was engaged. The jury much to the astonishment of the public, and in the face of the most conclusive evidence of the guilt of Dukes, and the judge's charge, which was strongly in favor of the prosecution, rendered a verdict of not guilty.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Judge Brown rendered a decision in the Kings county supreme court of New York recently upon the application of counsel for Mrs. L. M. Brisbane for alimony and counsel fee pending her suit for divorce against her husband, Albert Brisbane, who at the age of seventy one is trying to disown her, asserting that she is not and never was his asserting that she is Not and never was his wife, as there has been no ceremony. The defendant is worth over $150,000. The judge finds that when he is obliged to call on her to join with him in the transfer of his property, and when he lives with her and introduces her as his wife, her claim as such is sufficiently established. The judge granted $500 counsel fees, and $250 per more bilinear. week alimony.

A Drunken Star Route Juror.

While the jury was being polled on Wednesday, J. H. Vernon, one of the number suddenly uttered an unearthly yell and fell in a fit to the floor among a pile of chairs. He was removed to a state-room and found to be suffering from' an attack of delirium tremens. All sorts of rumors were quickly afloat, but it was soon established that since his service began Vernon nad been drinking very heavily. His associates have had considerable trouble in keeping him awake while evidence was being given. fer drinking a pint of whisky he was enabled to return to the court room. It ap-pears that he was deprived of his daily al-lowance of liquor and was very sick. The court instructed the marshal to allow Verson three drinks a day while he coninued to serve on the jury. In his fall Vernon twisted his ankle, which necessitated his being put to bed as soon as he was released from the court room. Counsel for defense said that any verdict except one of acquittal could easily be set aside on account of Vernon's conduct. No court in the world would sanction a verdict in which one of the jurymen had proved himself so thoroughly incompetent for service, and if the defendants were broug t in guilty a motion would be at once entered to set aside such a decision. The government counsel hold that Vernon had only been prostrated temporarily, and that this mal-ady was nothing more than a sudden ill-ness from which he had quickly rallied.

EdThe Second Dukes-Nutt Tragedy. Uniontown, Pa., special: The coroner's jury in the Dukes case recently resumed its investigation, only one witness testifying. Policeman Pegg testified that-

He was standing on Tremont corner when he heard a shot fired. Witness looked around and saw Dukes leaving the corner around and saw Dukes leaving the corner of Pittsburg street when the shot was fired. As he looked into the postoffice door Nutt shot again. There were five shots fired be-fore Officer Pegg made the arrest. John R. Wilson testified as to standing in front of the postoffice, and after the shots were fired witness saw a man coming around the cor-ner and another after h m; went to the postoffice door and saw Dukes lying on the floor.

The testimony of Lucius Martin was corroborative of the above, as was that of balf a dozen other witnesses who followed. Dr. W. A. Sturgeon was examined regarding Duke's wounds.

The jury retired and in a few minutes re turned with a verdict that Nicholas L Dukes came to his death from wounds received from a recolver fired in the hands of James Nutt. From good authority, it is said that Dukes met young Nutt on the street and laughed in his face in a sneering street and laughed in his face in a sheering manner, and thus himself precipitated the tragedy. The trial it is thought will take place at the September term of the court. As Nutt's offense is not ballable, he will have to remain in prison until that time. In an interview to-night his mother said she had entreated him over and over again to promise he would never assail Dukes, but while listening patiently, he never signified what he intended doing.

A Little More Barbed Wire.

Judge McCreary and Love forwarded to the clerk of the United States circuit court at Des Moines. Iowa, an order in the barbed wire cases of Washburn, Moen company vs. Rhodes and others, denying the several applications for preliminary injunctions for inpitcations for preliminary injunctions for in-fringement of the reissued Gliden & Kelly patent. No opinion was written. The judges here deemed it advisable to suspend their judgment on these cases, which were argued in chambers at Keokuk, some time ago, until similar motions involving the same question are passed upon by Judge Treat at St. Louis. The court here did not desire to forestall the argument and anticipate the judgment of that court. Both judges McCrary and Love find Judge Treat opinion in accord with their own judgment s to the validity of the reissue of these patents.

Never Had Teeth.

Says the Montana Independent: A map who never in his life had a tooth in his jaws at one time resided in Montana. This fact was brought to the recollection of an old resident of this city by seeing a statement in an Eastern paper that one of the most wonderful na ural curiosities of the age is a ten-year-old Georgia boy who never had any teeth, and never showed any signs that he ever will have any. The man referred to above was sixty years old, and had never had teeth. His name was Joseph Bearclaw. He was a resident of Adler Gluch, in 1864 and 1865. Although Mature failed to supply Mr. Bearclaw with teeth, she tried to make amends by furnishing him with long, strong finger-nails and toe-nails. which were almost as hard as bone, and fully an eighth of an inch thick. It is not known whether he got the name of Bearclaw from this circumstance, or if that was properly his name. He was from Illinois, to which state he returned
