New York Churches.

New York Express: Gotham, for a town supposed to be mortgaged to his Majesty down below, has a good deal of money invested in churches. The otal is about $60,000,000. It vexes be soul of Col. Ingersoll that all this pecunious farmer had, and, as security of some kind was demanded, the chickens were put on paper. Numerother property its contribution to the City Treasury would be about a millon a year. Trinity church heads the list in point of value, the figures on it being $3,000,000. The Roman Catholic for credit. Most of these are negroes, Cathedral on Fifth avenue comes next but quite a number of white men have at $2,000,000. Trinity is actually worth at least $4,000,000 and the Cathedral by mortgaging property of the description given. Mule mortgages are by far is set down at $1,750,000, and Grace at $350,000, which is hardly half what mules, sewing machines are acceptable

The fashionable St. Thomas Church of Fifth Avenue is valued at $750,000, and the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church (Dr. Hall's), near by, at the same figure. One Dutch Reformed church on the avenue stands at $750,-000 and another at $450,000; and the stylish synagogue, wherein the more progressive Hebrews worship, at $650,000. One Roman Catholic church (St. Paul's) is valued at $500,000, and the next figure in that denomination is $350,000 on St. Stephen's, the scene of the Dr.

McGlynn trouble, now at an end. The well-known Little Church Around the Corner is on the list at $250,000 Along Fifth avenue and Madison avenue, the arteries through which the blue blood of Gotham flows, there are some thirty churches ranging in value from $200,000 to $750,000.

July, 1881, wrote Thos. P. Gloster, Holyoke, Mass., "In three days cured an abcess on my arm with St. Jacobs Oil." October 29, 1886, he says: "Was entirely cured of the terrible suffering by it." Price fifty cents.

The Divided Skirt.

Lady Harberton is very persistent on her favorite subject of the divided skirt, and one might suppose from the eagerness with which this discussion is carried on in the papers that ladies were going to begin to pay some attention to reason and common sense in matters of costume. Of course nothing of the sort is likely. Some of them write plaintively to editors that they are entirely in the hands of their dressmaker, and every one can see how true this is. At the same time this is to be said in favor of Lady Harberton's reform, that if it is found to contribute to the ease and comfort of those who wear the dual dress it also escapes criticism and observation. I met Lady Harberton in the street the other day, and there was nothing to distinguish her appearance from that of any other lady of her size and figure.—London Letter.

The Stomach Distils Acids.

These, if existent in a natural quantity, and unvitiated by bile, play their part in the functions of digestion and assimilation But the artificial acid resulting from the inability of the stomach to convert food received by it into sustenance, is the producer of flatulence and heartburn, which are the most harrassing symptoms of dyspepsia. The best carminative is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Far more effective is it than carbonate of soda, magnesia or other alkaline salts. These invariably weaken the stomach without producing permanent benefit. No man or woman chronically dyspeptic, and consequently nervous, can be in possession of the full measure of vigor allowed by nature. Therefore, invigorate and regulate the system, and by so doing protect it from malaria, rheumatism and other serious maladies. ceived by it into sustenance, is the producer

The Begining of Whiskers.

Away back in the time of the early Puritans the custom of clean shaving was introduced, and it clung to this country like a bur until thirty years ago. When I was a youngster men were just beginning to break away from smooth faces, but the movement met with little favor. It was still believed that a smooth face was a standard of respectability, and any departure therefrom savored of wickedness. The clergy were responsible in a great measure for this belief, for they were clean-shaved to a man. If a man made his appearance in the streets or a public assembly with a full beard he was set down as a foreigner, or perhaps a pirate, and a man-especially a young man-who braved the gaze of his fellowmen with a simple mustache was promptly voted a gambler or a black-leg.—Philadelphia Call.

Queer Deeds of Trust.

Tuesday Deputy-Clerk Henry Hardy was requested to put on record a deed of trust in which a small farmer pledged his best suit of clothes to the merchant who was to provide him with some needed provisions. The farmer regretfully stated that he had been compelled by the city merchant to furnish security. He had an old suit and thought he could stay away from church until next fall, when he would get in his crop and pay his debts. He was premitted to keep the clothes but was not to wear them out, and was made to understand that they were liable to execution in case he failed to meet his agreement. Another deed of trust recorded was for three chickens. They were all the imany real-estate broker would say it is to the merchants, who either through worth. pel their debtors to give deeds of trusts on articles which in many cases are valueless .- Vicksburg Herald.

and the artificial effects of cosmetics, no matter how deftly applied, can never make beautiful or attractive one who is subject to emaciation, nervous debility, or any form of female weakness. These must be reached by inward application, and not by outward attempts at concealment, and the ladies may take hope from the fact that thousands of their sisters have made themselves more radiant and beautiful by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" than they could ever hope to do by the aid of the appliances of the toilet.

The disease had gone to my lungs and to the region of my heart and I was finally givon up by the physicians, who said I could live but a few hours at most, and that all they could do was to make me as easy as possible by killing the pain by frequent injections of morphine. I was finally advised by a friend to take Dr. Pardee's Rheumatic Remedy. Upon being asked as to giving it to me, the physician said "I have no faith in patent medicines, but give it to him; it will not hurt him."

I was then so near dead that my limbs were cold below the knees, and a numb sensation began to creep over my body, and I suffered with great pain in my chest and about my heart. After I had taken the first tew doses I experienced more pain than before, for it seemed to drive the pain from the vital parts toward the extremities. I continued to take it according to directions. Four days after, the physician who gave me up called to see me, and I said I was much better. In about four weeks I could sit up; I then gained very fast and became as well CHAS. O. BARNUM. as ever.

UVILLA, W. Va., Nov. 17, 1886. Recently I bought a young horse. He was taken very ill with Pneumonia. I tried to think of something to relieve him. Concluded what was good for man would be good for the horse. So I got a bottle of Piso's Cure and gave him postrile through the nostrils. This helped him, and I continued giving same doses night and morning until I had used two bottles. The horse has become perfectly sound. I can recommend Piso's Cure for the horse as well as for
