JUST LIKE A WOMAN.

A Matter-of-Fact Account of a Police Station Incident

"I have had my pocket picked!" exclaimed a middle-aged woman as she hurriedly entered detective headquarters a day or two ago.

"When did it occur?" was asked. "In a store on Woodward avenue, and I know it was a young man who stood near me." "How much money did you have?"

"I can't say, sir. You see, it was this way. I came down to do some shopping. I put my portmonnaie in my pocket when I left home. When I went to pay for the goods in a store it was gone. I think I had about eight dollars."

"Did any one have opportunity to pick your pocket?"

"I suppose they did." "Sure you brought the money down town?"

"Oh, yes." "And you are certain you didn't lose it?"

"Do you think I'm a fool, sir!" she indignantly exclaimed. "When I say I had my pocket picked I know what I'm talking about!"

"I hope you do, ma'am, but you know—"

At this moment a boy entered the room with the portmonnaie in his hand, and said:

"Here's your money, ma. We found it on the stand after you left the house, and Sarah sent me down to the store after you."

The woman and the sergeant looked fixedly at each other for a few seconds he smiled. Then she got red. Then he said he was glad she had found her money, and she retorted:

"I don't believe it! You just wish I had lost it! I'll never come here for help again, never!"—Detroit Free Press.

rof. Albert R. Leeds states that, out of every 100 infants fed on mothers' milk, statistics show that about eight die at the end of the first year; out of 100 wet-nursed, eighteen die at the end of the first year; and, of 100 fed on "infant foods," fifty-one die by the end of the first year. On which the Medical Record remarks that, after all, "Infants intelligently fed have nearly as good a chance of life with artificial as with natural food." Undoubtedly a large part of the 51 per cent of first-year mortality was due to unintelligent feeding and preparation of food. But it has required an extraordinary intelligence to meet the requirements of successful bottle-nursing. though we have shown it can be done. Prof. Leeds says he has found that human milk differs from cows' milk chiefly in the proportion and digestfoil-ity of the casine, which is smaller in quantity and more easily digestible in human than in cows' milk. He believes he has solved the problem by digesting the caseine by a peptogenic powder, easily obtainable and of constant strength, which, with the aid of heat, reduced the caseine in five minutes. Before this cooking the milk had been first diluted with water, in order to lessen the proportion of caseine, and then had been enriched by the addition of cream to restore the normal proportion of fat. The results of a very large number of trials, followed by careful observation, encouraged the belief that by this process the artificial feeding of infants had nearly reached perfection. -Sanitary Era.

SALT-RHEUM

"COLUMBUS, OHIO, Aug. 18th, 1887.

"TION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.:

TION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Gentlemen—For several years I have felt it to be my duty to give to you the facts in relation to the complete cure of a most aggravated case of salt-rheum, by the use of your relative of mine had been a great sufferer from salt-rheum for upwards of forty years. The disease was most distressing in her hands, causing the skin to craok open on the inside of the fingers at the joints and between the fingers. She was obliged to protect the raw places by means of adhesive plasters, salves, ointments and bandages, and during the winter months had to have her hands dressed daily. The pain was quite severe at times and her general health was badly affected, paving the way for other diseases to creep in. Catarrh and rheumatism caused a great deal of suffering in addition to the salt-rheum. She had used faithfully, and with the most commendable perseverance, all the remedies prescribed by her physicians, but without obtaining relief. She afterwards began treating herself by drinking teas made from blood-purifying roots and herbs. She continued this for several years but derived no benefit. Finally, about ten years ago, I chanced to read one of Dr. Pierce's small pamphiets setting forth the merits of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and other medicines. The name struck my fancy, and seeing that it was essentially a blood-purifier, I immediately recommended it to the old lady who had been so long a sufferer from salt-rheum. She commenced taking it at once, and took one bottle, but seemed to be no better. However, I realized that it would take time for any medicine to effect a change for the better, and encouraged her to continue. She then purchased a half-a-dosen bottles, and before these had all been used she beggin to notice an improvement. After taking about a dozen bottles she was entirely oured. Her hands were perfectly well and as smooth and bealthy as a child's. Her general health was also greatly improved; the rheumatism entirely left her and the catarrh was almost cured, so that it ceased to be much annoyance. She has enjoyed excellent health from that day to this, and has had no return of either salt-rheum or rheumatism. The 'Discovery' seems to have entirely eradiocated the salt-rheum from her system. She is now over eighty years old, and very healthy for one of such extreme age.

I have written this letter, of which you can make any use you see fit, hoping that some sufferer from salt-rheum might chance to read it and obtain relief by using your 'Golden Medical Discovery'—for 'Golden' it is in its curative properties, and as much above the multitude of nostrums and so-called 'patent medicines,' so sealously flaunted before the public, as gold is above the baser metals.
